Mallorca island

Mallorca is a big island in the Mediterranean Sea. It belongs to Spain. It is the biggest island of the Balearic Islands. There are two smaller islands near it. They are called Menorca and Ibiza.

There are many nice places on Mallorca. I liked nature and the sea the most. There are many palm trees, bushes and flowers. I saw some plants I didn't know. We also saw many birds, lizards and sheep. The sea water was clean and blue. The sun was shining almost every day.

In the west of the island, there is a mountain range called Serra de Tramuntana. It is very famous and has many hills and rocks. The mountains are beautiful and there are views of the sea. We went by bus on a winding road and saw a lot of trees, mountains and sheep. We stopped in one place and took photos of the landscape.

In the north of the island, there is a natural park called S'Albufera. It is a place where many water birds live. We went there one day. People who like birds and taking photos will enjoy it. But I didn't like it so much because I prefer forest animals. There were a lot of reeds and water and paths to walk on. It was quiet and peaceful.

The biggest city is Palma de Mallorca. It is the capital of Mallorca, and many people live there. We stayed there for a whole week because we were on an Erasmus exchange program. Palma is a very nice city. There are old buildings and monuments. The most famous is the La Seu Cathedral. It is very big and has beautiful stained glass. We saw it lit up at night and it looked amazing. In Palma, there is also a castle called Bellver. It is round and has a great view of the city.

In Palma, we walked around a lot. We saw different buildings, streets and squares. One afternoon we went to the port. There was a nice view of the sea and many boats, small and very big. We sat near the water, the wind was blowing, and it felt nice. We bought some ice cream and talked.

Our teachers told us about some other towns. One of them is called Manacor. It is a traditional Mallorcan town. They make pearls and furniture there. It is on the east side of the island and people say it is calmer than Palma.

Some trips were about nature, some about towns. Mallorca has many places where you can go by train or bus, for example to the mountains or to the beach. The landscape is very different in each place – there are rocks and hills, or palm trees and fields. Even a bus ride was interesting, because there was always something to see.

We also went outside Palma. In the mountains, there are small villages with stone houses and narrow streets. The views are beautiful. Some villages have old monasteries or museums.

Mallorca is also known for its caves, like Cuevas del Drach or Cuevas de Artà. Someone in our group talked about them. They have big halls, stalactites and even an underground lake. It would be interesting to go there one day and see it.

The island has many beaches too. We visited one on a trip. The water was very clear, and the sand was soft and almost white. The sea was a little cold, but very clean. We relaxed on the beach, talked, and some of us went swimming. The sun was shining, and the day went by fast.

Mallorca was very interesting for me. It has beautiful nature, cities and beaches. The people were friendly, and the weather was almost always nice. I liked seeing something new and being in a different country. I also practiced English a bit and learned some Spanish words like "hola", "gracias" and "adiós". It was a good experience, and I will remember it.
