In the morning, we woke up, got ready and went to breakfast. We had to eat well, because we were going on a hike up the Medvednica Mountain. As soon as we finished eating, we packed our backpacks. When we were ready, we put on comfortable shoes and went downstairs. At the hotel, we met on the sofa and waited for the other teams. After a while, we were all ready to go.

First, we took one tram and then changed to another and another.

We stopped at the last station and when we got off, we saw the place we were going to. We went to a building where were two guides, Antonio and Maria. They said a few words and then we went to a big tunnel. We stayed there for a little while. They told us to be careful and not to throw any trash. We also did some stretching.

For a while, we walked on flat ground. We stopped at a big house on the path. Antonio said that if anyone got hurt, for example hurt their leg, they could come here to get free help and water. We walked down a little and then stopped again. Up to this point, everything was still easy. We could see the real mountain ahead - steep and very high.

After a short break, we started going up. The path was often steep, narrow and had many roots. After some time, we took a break. We rested for a while and then walked again.

Sometimes we took short breaks, and about halfway up, we had a longer break. There were wooden benches with a table. We rested, ate, drank and then walked on. The path was the same the rest of the way.

After a while, we had another break. Antonio showed us some stones, for example calcite and quartz. It seemed to me, that after this break there were more trees, quartz, and minerals.

Sometimes it was very steep and I had trouble climbing to the top. After a few hours, we finally saw something ahead. There was a restaurant at the top. We waited outside for a little while, then went in. They took us to a big room with tables and chairs. All the Czech girls sat together at one table.

Finally, we could use the bathroom, wash our hands, drink and sit in the warm room. While we were talking and resting, someone called the Czech team for lunch. It was like a small cafeteria. We went in line, took a tray, cutlery and got our food. We had fried chicken with rice, iceberg salad, cabbage and for dessert a piece of apple strudel.

The teachers found out the bus would leave in a few hours, so we stayed in the restaurant for a while. Then we went outside for a walk. We took a photo together, crossed the road and walked between the trees. Then they asked if we wanted to go with Antonio to the top of the mountain or with Maria to the small church. Most went to the top, but I chose the church. We walked together for a while, then turned to the small church while the others went on. We looked inside and rested on the benches.

As the bus time got closer, we went back to make sure we wouldn't miss it. The others arrived and after a few minutes, the bus came. We got on, I had to stand, because there were no more free seats. We rode for about an hour, which gave us time to talk with the girls from Italy. Then we took the tram and walked to the hotel.

Before dinner, we just rested in the room and unpacked our backpacks. Time passed quickly and then we went to dinner. We had soup with pasta first and waited for the main dish. We had meat with pasta in tomato sauce and for dessert, chocolate pudding with a biscuit. As soon as we finished eating, we went to bed because the hike was hard and we were tired.

Overall, the Erasmus in Croatia was very good, except for a few things. I got new experiences, memories, and friends from the Czech Republic and other countries.

It was nice...
