SUNDAY 22nd MARCH WITH MY SPANISH FAMILY

In the morning on Sunday we had breakfast and then Markos and I watched movies, later we went to their garden and swim in the pool, played football and lots of other games, then we went to Marcos' cousins for lunch.

There we had paella. Paella is a traditional Spanish dish that is prepared on a fire with roasted rice, chicken and shrimp. After the meal we walked for about an hour along the dry river until we finally reached the lake there.

The water in that lake once supplied the entire village. There were even water inlets built by ancient people. The water there was crystal clear. People called the entire lake the Devil's Mouth. There was also a waterfall a short distance from the lake, but we didn't go there.

On the way home, we saw a bakery factory that supplied the entire Enguera. We then arrived home at Marcos cousins and aunts' house. We went to Marcos' house to take a shower.

We then went a short distance away from Enguera to the shopping centre for bowling. We played about 3 games. We played for 3 hours and then we quickly went home to sleep because the day after that we had to go to school for the first time
